FIRE & RESCUE

The garment bag made of PVC material is ideal for contaminated operational clothing

To prevent the spread of contamination, firefighters can undress on the opened bag, remove their protective clothing and pack it away. This is easy to do as the bag can be opened with a zipper almost completely to the bottom.

Red/green color coding on the top of the garment bag can be used to define whether fresh or contaminated clothing is inside the bag.

The handles are made of tear-resistant belt material. A slot with a clear window allows you to store name tags and valuables.
